

Weekly Learning Reflections

Week Beginning:

Happy Friday 😊

The end of week 3 sees us meeting the half way point of this half term and as ever it has been jammed packed.

We have been enjoying our French lessons this half term as we have been learning how to describe 2D shapes. The children know different colours, sizes and shape names to be able to spot and say full descriptive phrases. They have even mastered the knack of changing the word order to the French style. For example, un petit carré bleu = a small blue square.

Maths this week started off with re-capping some place value skills before tackling the tricky world of measure. Much fun was had measuring each other using meter sticks and measuring feet. Next week we will be looking at capacity. We have also been enjoying our 6 times tables to the tune of 'Shake it off' by Taylor Swift which the children sing beautifully (Here is the link if you fancy a sing song at home...

In English this half term we will be using 'The Firework Makers Daughter' by Phillip Pullman to develop our narrative skills. This week we have practised answering Master Reporter style questions to pin point specific details before looking at expanded noun phrases to describe some of the main characters. We have also managed to squeeze in a neat write up of our secret project that is on the way to some of you today. I hope that you enjoy them!

★ ★ ★ STARS OF THE WEEK ★ ★ ★

Pupil Star of the Week - ★ Mildred ★

Mildred was chosen this week as she always works hard and is an excellent member of Radiant class. The other children noted her efforts with independence and the ability to challenge herself as well as her fantastic cooperation and collaboration skills.

Teacher Star of the Week - ★ Elsie ★

Elsie nearly ended up with a double whammy star of the week as she was also a nominee for class star of the week but lost out in the blind vote. However, I had already chosen her for teacher star as it has been excellent to see her challenge herself across all areas of learning this week. I also loved her creative thinking in English this morning too.

Well done to our stars.
