

Weekly Learning Reflections

Good afternoon Class Astute and families!

This week, Class Astrue have been exploring many different topics, from light and reflection in science, to passing and throwing accurately in PE. We also moved onto the next stage of our history topic, which was exploring the many reasons why the Roman army were so successful. We took a close look at their armour too and learned the Latin vocabulary for the different parts.

We dived into our new maths unit on fractions and built upon our prior knowledge. We learned fractions on a number line and bar model so that we could compare and order them. We then looked at problem solving questions that made us think. Here, we used our Master Decoder and Detective skills to help us.

In English, we explored different sentence types and how they help us to layer more detail into our writing. We have also started our newspaper report and have included the five Ws (who, what, where, when, why) into our introduction to engage the reader.

Stars of the week!

Teacher star of the week goes to Jackson for showing a fantastic attitude towards his learning. Jackson has persevered this week and has pushed himself to achieve his very best. Well done Jackson!

Class star of the week goes to Alana! The reasons why the children voted Alana include: because she tries her very best, a great friend, she works hard and that she is incredibly kind. Well done Alana!

I hope you all have a lovely weekend 😊
