

Weekly Learning Reflections

Happy Friday 😊

Today brings the end of the penultimate week of the Spring term. It really has flown by!

It was lovely to see so many of you able to join us on our Open Morning. We hope you enjoyed it too.

English

We have been working on developing our understanding of how characters feel ready for our final diary writing next week. As well as this, we have explored the main features of a diary and used auditory and visual stimuli to help capture the atmosphere and emotions the characters Tranio and Livia would be feeling as they watched the devastating events unfold in the city of Pompeii in 79AD.

Maths

We continued to explore fractions by comparing and ordering unit fractions. Would you rather have $\frac{1}{3}$ of pizza or $\frac{1}{8}$? In addition, we looked at partitioning numbers in non-standard form e.g. 34- is 3 tens, 4 ones or it can be 2 tens, 14 ones or even 1 ten, 24 ones – the list is endless. The children have learnt that by using a systematic approach will allow them to accurately get all the possibilities.

DT

Our DT unit this term has focused on how technology has changed over the years and we have started to explore the concept of creating wearable technology. Next week the children will be designing and creating an item specifically used for children to use that enables them to walk/cycle safely at night. By using previously learnt coding, we will be exploring the programmable concept of Micro:bits and applying our understanding of computing to program, monitor and control our products. Will they flash or can they indicate whether the wearer is turning left or right? We can't wait to see the results!

We'd like to take this opportunity to wish all of the special Mums/Step-Mums/Foster-Mums/aunties/grannies out there a very happy Mother's Day for Sunday – and don't forget to put your clocks forward an hour Saturday night too!
