Pompeii: Before the Eruption

As I entered the thriving market place, I could smell the ~~fleshy~~ baked bread nearby. In the distance, I saw the fish ~~roasting~~ from the hustling, bustling market place. In the busy ~~chattering~~ chattering market place, I could taste the bread melting on my ~~tounge~~ tongue.

When I reached the ~~harbor~~, I could smell the exotic spices wine. As I ~~dwelt~~ around the ~~reeds~~, I hid behind some sacks of grain. All around this lively port, I could see the fishermen unloading and ~~loading~~ the ships with some sacks of grain and a crate with the spices and wine in the crate.

Amazing Lilly - you have used the senses really effectively to create a clear atmosphere.

12.03.26 Moving Day Diary

Friday 13th March

Dear Diary SP,

Today was the most terrifying awful day of my whole life and I still can't believe it was real. Last Today I moved out of my amazing house. How upsetting is that ?

It all started when we had a horroping letter that said we needed to move soon. how How could such a bad thing happen to me? I was stressed, curios and speechless. Everything was packed except for my favorite teddy and favorite outfit.

I put my outfit on and carefully placed my teddy inside of the box. I dragged myself out of my empty shell of a house.

planning a poem

Title The tricking water-fall and glowing green field

Where is your poem set? Example: forest, river, mountains, stormy sky	Field + Water fall.
What can be seen? Example: moonlight, shadows, trees, animals	- glowing water - Staked rock's - Colugal Butiflies - pale white daysies - green grass - glowing yellow sun - dry croked up dirt
What can be heard? Example: rustling leaves, wind, owl hooting	- The flap's of the butiflies. - rustling of the green grass - The water trikling down the Tok's
Powerful verbs I could use Example: whisper, glide, creep, drift	- A butifly flapped and glided down the the water-fall - The glowing sun beared bight on the green grass.
Personification idea Example: the wind whispers / the forest breathes	- Water whispering - Swaying grass - daisys dancing - The sun smiled brightly - dirt croked up into little pesse
